

The International Society of Nephrology (ISN) is dedicated to building a future where all people have equitable access to sustainable kidney health.

THE ISN NETWORK

9,000
ISN members

165
Countries

113
Affiliated Societies

27
Collective Societies

MEET ISN MEMBERS

I value being an ISN member because I feel part of an organization that is academically sound, collegial and invests in kidney health all over the world, especially in low-income areas.

Marcelo Orias
Argentina

I personally benefitted from this "support where it counts" philosophy in my home country Argentina. Then, as Chair of the ISN Sister Renal Center Program, I was amazed at the growth and development of nephrology in underserved areas all over the world.

Noot Sengthavisouk
Laos

ISN membership gives me access to the latest information on kidney diseases so I can improve the care I give my patients. I've also benefited from their granting programs.
